WELCOME

ROB EVERETT RACV Club General Manager

The start of winter is shaping up to be a feast for the senses. Our cover story introduces master chef Philippe Mouchel's first signature dinner, replacing the esteemed Gabriel Gaté, which showcases the rustic flavours of his homeland, Normandy. Don't miss this magnificent event taking place on Friday 25 July at Ballroom, Healesville Country Club & Resort. See page 6.

Also on the horizon are a host of exceptional food and drink experiences, including our Executive Chef at RACV City Club Kyle Doody's Shoku no Kokoro: Japanese dinner on 7 June, ever-popular Bastille Day celebrations and our indulgent truffle dinner event, earmarked for 5 August at City Club.

The legacy of RACV City Club and RACV as a monumental Australian organisation takes centre stage at a black-tie gala dinner celebrating our 20th anniversary at 501 Bourke Street (to be held in Ballroom, Level 17, on Saturday 28 June). Join us as we toast the past, present and our burgeoning future at this heraldic event. Read page 8 for more.

We also feature a spectacular new visual art exhibition in the Gallery Lounge (on page 14) and focus on family ties in our much-loved member interest groups (see page 12).

Be sure to bookmark our Christmas Day booking guide on page 9 in this edition, featuring seven standout food and drink venues across City Club and Healesville Country Club & Resort. Act promptly to avoid disappointment on our most popular day of the Club calendar.

Keen interest surrounds the launch of our early-access program, RACV Club Priority Pass, which we featured in our May edition cover story. I'm thrilled to see so many members enjoying the benefits of this new program already. Exciting events are available for our Priority Pass holders, such as the Oasis and Usher concerts, as well as AFL rounds 16–23 in our Corporate Suites at the MCG and Marvel Stadium.

Looking to July, we handpick our best winter-warming signature food and drink and spa therapies at City Club and Healesville. Our collaboration with the esteemed Macallan Whisky brand culminates in two premium events next month, including a masterclass, guest speakers and a range of whisky cocktails and whisky flights on offer at Wine Cellar and Wine Bar.

Early bookings are recommended for these and all events on the Club calendar. As always, we look forward to welcoming members and their guests at RACV Club.

The Philippe Mouchel signature dinner on 25 July at Healesville Country Club & Resort promises to be a gastronomic extravaganza.

FLAVOURS OF NORMANDY:

An Evening with Philippe Mouchel

Renowned culinary master
Philippe Mouchel puts his Normandy homeland on the menu for a signature dinner event to write home about.

We are thrilled to pass the culinary torch from the renowned Gabriel Gaté to the illustrious Philippe Mouchel. The multi-awarded chef puts his Roeun, Normandy, homeland on the culinary map in Philippe's first Healesville Country Club & Resort signature dinner event.

The evening's theme, Normandy, pays homage to Philippe's origins. Envision a classic French ambience: warm, inviting and moody, with vibrant touches of French culture and music, evoking the charm of a seaside market.

Raising the bar on the traditional, rustic flavours of Normandy cuisine is what members can look forward to on Friday 25 July, from 6:30pm-11pm at Ballroom, Healesville Country Club & Resort.

Guests will indulge in exquisite canapés and a four-course menu, each dish perfectly paired with select beverages. This promises to be an unforgettable celebration of French culinary artistry.

Harking from a family of great cooks sourcing lovingly homegrown produce, Philippe learnt early on that taking pleasure in cooking also means eating well.

Philippe's father was a chef and enormous inspiration on Philippe's chosen career path. "I like the fact that being a chef involves something different every day," Philippe says. "I like to cook and serve customers — and to teach the next generation of chefs."

Having trained with the renowned Paul Bocuse in France and being entrusted to open the first Bocuse signature restaurant in Japan, the similarly multi-awarded Philippe opened a string of successful restaurants in Sydney and Melbourne. These include his eponymous restaurant in Collins Street, where we meet to discuss the tantalising albeit serious business of what members can expect to savour at the Healesville signature dinner event.

The flavours of Normandy will be in their element. "We will have cider, Calvados and most likely a duck dish, probably garnished with apple," Philippe says. "Of course, there will be typical cheeses such as Livarot and Camembert, a fish dish and Normandy cream."

In fact, a specialty dessert is expected to comprise the key Normandy ingredients of apple and cream flavoured with almonds.

BLACK-TIE CELEBRATION

RACV City Club proudly marks its 20th anniversary at 501 Bourke Street, and its 122-year-old legacy, with a fittingly opulent gala event.

An organisation's legacy is its most valuable asset - and few know this better than the founders of RACV.

Since 1903, RACV has been at the heart of Victoria's motoring and hospitality landscape, evolving from a small automobile club into a leading member organisation (Victoria's largest and one of Australia's most trusted brands).

This special gala dinner honours that rich legacy while marking 20 years at our home base on 501 Bourke Street, Melbourne.

Toasting the past, present and future, members will be treated to a jubilant evening of fine dining, live entertainment and heartfelt reflections on RACV Club's rewarding journey.

Membership interest in the event is understandably gaining, with members set to sip and sup on a three-course, themed dinner at a black-tie event at the Club's Ballroom on Level 17, 501 Bourke Street, on Saturday 28 June from 6pm-10pm.

The celebratory menu, many months in the making, was a momentous undertaking, says RACV Club Executive Chef Kyle Doody.

"The menu will be tipping a hat to menus of the past, but the cuisine has also been given a reimagining of the dishes to reflect the times we live in and the Club that houses us so embracingly now," Kyle says.

"Think a modern twist to dishes such as Seafood Cocktail RACV and Duck Manon, to name a few — and our wonderful team at Le Petit Gâteau will also be contributing to the rich tapestry of RACV Club at Bourke Street with a sensational dessert offering."

New and longtime members alike are keenly anticipating the gala dinner, which is certain to be a memorable occasion in a culinary, historical and celebratory sense.

RACV ROYAL PINES RESORT

The awe-inspiring transformation of Arakawa

Royal Pines Resort's Arakawa is a longstanding favourite of Queenslanders and guests of RACV Royal Pines Resort. Recently, the Japanese restaurant has had a comprehensive makeover, with an enlivened interior blending tradition and innovation seamlessly.

Step into an immersive experience the moment you enter. Modern murals depict Japanese women in traditional attire, evoking a sense of grace and movement. Meanwhile, dark flooring and accents create a perfect contrast with the brightly adorned walls and the sculptural, creatively plated dishes.

Dining here is a pleasure and adventure in equal parts, and Arakawa's skilful chefs make sure of it. Precision underpins every element of the thoughtfully arranged dishes, as is the Arakawa way. Every cut of sushi and sashimi is purposeful, and à la carte dishes like tempura squid, chicken yakitori and braised pork belly are presented like works of art.

Sophisticated, but far from formal, Arakawa is the destination for quality Japanese cuisine. Book a table from Tuesday to Saturday whether you're celebrating or visiting midweek for a casual, yet elegant, meal. And if you'd like to elevate your dining experience, you can choose between fun-filled teppanyaki tables or a more intimate tatami setting.

IN THE SWIM

Popular aqua instructor Joan O'Callaghan proves that age is no barrier to prime health.

Joan turned 80 in March this year and the RACV City Club Fitness Centre organised a special luncheon to celebrate her big day in the Carbine Bar. Fifty of Joan's aqua class participants were in attendance and, as you can see, the mood was sparkling.

Just as remarkably, Joan has been with City Club in her current role for 18 years this month. She teaches the aqua fitness class three times a week and is a favourite with members and staff alike.

Thank you, Joan, for your wonderful service.

Aqua aerobics classes run for 45 minutes per session in our leisure lane on various days of the week. We welcome participants with a basic level of fitness to join in and have some fun.

● For aqua fitness class details, call (03) 9944 8860.

Reciprocal Club

For unforgettable resort activities, elegant food and drink options, wellness, shopping, local experiences and private yacht charter, you can't go past sunny Newport Beach in the southern Orange County of California. The number one resort in this rarefied region, according to The US News & World Report, Balboa Bay Resort is the epitome of waterfront opulence and glamour.

RACV Club Members need to arrange a letter of introduction prior to visiting a Reciprocal Club. Details at racv.com.au/club or scan the QR code.

SHARED INTERESTS YIELD GROWTH

RACV Club's member interest groups keep driving business networking, social community, in-demand activities and events that inspire the next generation.

Member interest groups are an essential element of the RACV Club ethos. They not only unite members over shared interests but are often the catalyst for building lifelong associations.

Whether your focus is on personal development, business networking, book club, billiards, appreciating visual art or the art of conversation, we offer Club members about 18 member interest groups that occur monthly or more frequently, depending on demand.

The squash group is one such entity that keeps members energised, fit and in competition mode. With 10 teams ranging from grades A1 through F, the RACV Squash Club competes in the Melbourne Club Circuit with games usually played on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings. Coaching, court hire and social play are all available, with four dedicated squash courts located in our City Club Fitness Centre.

The next major event, the Club Championships, is scheduled for Saturday 26 July and Sunday 27 July. To register, email squashracv@gmail.com.

President of the RACV Squash Section and Club champion Geoff Chambers and son (City Club Member Coordinator) Robert Chambers might not share an interest on the squash court, but together have competed in the past two years' Family Doubles competition in the billiards group.

An RACV Club member since 1977, Geoff has played more than 1,000 competitive matches at the Club, winning the B Grade Club Championship three times. He has many strings to his bow.

"I was involved in introducing jazz events at the Club, facilitating the Club's involvement with jazz impresario Michael Tortoni," Geoff says. "My son, Robert, as a member of the Club's Event Team, has been responsible for taking that forward with several large jazz events and regular midweek jazz evenings in the Wine Bar."

Both believe the father-son connection in the member interest groups is the essence of RACV Club's philosophy. Robert is an active member of the popular Young Professionals cohort and says of the familial bond: "We have a shared view of the benefits of participating in these groups and the way it enriches Club life."

The Young Professionals group unites a growing band of likeminded professionals.

This social group is a collection of Club members who are still in the professional stage of their lives. Meet people from diverse backgrounds and industries, develop business connections, and most importantly socialise with Club members at monthly drinks catchups and special events throughout the year.

Young Professionals get together on the first Thursday of the month at 5pm at the Wine Bar, City Club.

● Make the most of your membership by finding the group that suits your interests. Visit Member Interest Groups | RACV Club

OUT & ABOUT

The atmosphere was exhilarating at our biggest Four Chef Showdown yet, which took place on Level 17, City Club, on Friday 11 April.

Culinary duos from City Club and Healesville Country Club & Resort went head-to-head in a tussle of timing and gastronomic artistry. Many hands make light work in staging the annual Four Chef Showdown and a host of RACV Club staff and this year's joint winners, Lalit Kumar and Josh Cochrane, did their teams proud.

The launch night of the 100th anniversary of the RACV Club Annual Snooker Tournament on Thursday 8 May captured the boundless spirit and energy of our snooker enthusiasts.

Forty people were in attendance to enjoy some food and a specially baked replica billiard table chocolate-and-hazelnut cake.

RACV Club General Manager Rob Everett was also there to take part in the rip-roaring evening, which was hosted by RACV Resident Professional Robby Foldvari.

There were more than $200 in prizes on offer (including gift vouchers and wine) in the Lightning Snooker Competition, which was won by Gary Nunn. The main handicap tournament attracted a record 78 entries. The winner and finalist will have their names etched on the illustrious honour board in the billiard room.

TRUE COLOURS

A breathtaking new exhibition brings together the artworks of a celebrated trio of Australian artists who use colour to explore formal, physical and psychological realms.

We Dream in Colour, in the Gallery Lounge, and presented in collaboration with independent gallery Sarah Scout Presents, showcases three celebrated artists — Nadine Christensen, Greg Creek and Anna Finlayson — who invite us to see the world not just as it is, but as it feels, dreams and remembers. Through bold colour palettes and a blend of visual languages, these artists delve into the formal, physical and psychological terrains that define our experience of place and self.

We Dream in Colour is a kaleidoscope of mediums and motifs, looking beyond traditional landscape painting or pure abstraction. Christensen's layered compositions apply elements of collage and colour shifts to suggest fleeting urban moments and ephemeral thoughts. Creek blends fragmented domestic and industrial spaces with speculative fiction to create allegories about contemporary life. Finlayson, meanwhile, works with delicate watercolours and graphic forms, creating an exploration of colour that is both whimsical and reflective.

Together, these artists span a wide visual spectrum, from representation to abstraction, a painted gesture to careful observation. Yet they're united by a shared desire to map the intangible: the sensations, dreams, and subtle cues that shape our interactions with the world. Whether you're drawn to the cerebral, the sensory, or the surreal, this exhibition offers the chance to step inside a world where boundaries dissolve and dreamscapes take the lead.

ESCAPE

Cool tropical breezes, warm water the colour of topaz and exploration opportunities abound at the wondrous Whitsundays.
Image: Getty

WINTER-FREE ZONE: WELCOME TO WHITSUNDAYS

Whitehaven Beach, with its pure white silica sand and vibrant turquoise water, is one of the defining images of the Whitsunday Islands. But it's not the only must-see destination among the archipelago's 74 islands.

Here are some of the best ways to have an idyllic tropical holiday there and better yet, RACV members can enjoy special offers and discounts at local attractions, too.

WHITEHAVEN BEACH

The Whitsundays are located along Queensland's central coast, just over 1,100km north of Brisbane and 55 kilometres out into the Coral Sea.

The largest island is Whitsunday Island, home to the seven-kilometre-long Whitehaven Beach. Despite almost year-round sunshine, the silica composition of the sand remains cool to touch for bare feet. The water, however, is warm.

There are plenty of ways to get there, too, from scenic helicopter flights that land on the beach, to yachts and ferries, many departing from Airlie Beach.

HAMILTON ISLAND

The largest inhabited island within the Whitsundays, Hamilton Island is not only a quintessential tropical island paradise, but the gateway to the Great Barrier Reef and an ideal base to explore the region via seaplanes, helicopters or yachts.

Hamilton Island also has plenty of accommodation and activity options. Relax by a pool, indulge in spa treatments, dine at bars and restaurants or play 18 holes at Hamilton Island Golf Club.

THE HEART REEF

As equally iconic as Whitehaven, and near to it, is the Heart Reef, a collection of coral that has, to the delight of romantics everywhere, naturally formed into the shape of a heart.

Given its popularity with sightseers, it's protected, so you can't dive or snorkel there. However, it's best viewed from above anyway.

Scenic flights, on helicopters, light planes or sea planes, depart from Airlie Beach, Whitsunday Coast Airport and Hamilton and Daydream Islands.

HARDY REEF

Heart Reef is nestled within a lagoon that's part of the bigger Hardy Reef, where you can get in the water with the incredible coral and amazing marine life and stay overnight.

Moored 39 nautical miles from the mainland, the recently refurbished Reefworld is a pontoon that provides ways to experience the reef from a different angle.

Reefworld is also home to the reef's first underwater hotel. Their 'Reefsuites' are located below sea level with massive windows to observe dazzling marine life.

AIRLIE BEACH

Your mainland base for all things Whitsundays is Airlie Beach, given the multitude of day trips and tour packages departing from here.

With its own palm-lined beaches and small population, it has a relaxed coastal village feel, with Airlie Beach Lagoon a highlight.

Now's the time to escape the southern winter and bask in the glow of a Whitsundays Island holiday.
